The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine the most Perfect and Cheapest in the World.

We would have a reason for everything. Why is it, wherever a Wheeler & Wilson is sold, the demand for sewing machines in the same is increased? Because every purchaser of the Wheeler & Wilson machine is perfectly satisfied with it, and tells his friends of its merits. Why is it that most of the machines sold in this city are Wheeler & Wilson? Because the operators of the Wheeler & Wilson machine are perfectly satisfied with it, and recommend it to their friends. Why is it that the Wheeler & Wilson machine is the most popular machine in use? Because it is the best. Why is it the best? Because it is the only machine that will execute perfectly every variety of work, from the finest cambric to the heaviest cloth. Why is it the only machine that will do this? Because it is the only machine that has the new and patented self-adjusting tension, which makes it impossible for the machine to get out of order. Why is it the only machine that has this self-adjusting tension? Because it is the only machine that has the brains. Why is it the only machine that has the brains? The Daily Commercial

MONDAY, APRIL 13, 1868.

THE COMMERCIAL, in the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

As proof of the ultimate placed on the market reports of the COMMERCIAL, we will state that they are regularly copied by the New York Economist, Shipping List, Iron Age, and other papers of this character in that and other cities, and that leading Eastern commercial papers and circulars regularly reprint them with credit. There is within lately reprint them with credit. There is within lately one hundred miles, hardly an Iron Factory, Oil Refinery, or leading manufactory of any kind that is not a subscriber to the COMMERCIAL, principally, because its reports are the only full and reliable given of the Pittsburgh markets.

CROP AND FRUIT PROSPECT.

Our friends everywhere will confer a favor by writing us briefly concerning the grain and fruit prospect, and the farming and business prospect generally. We shall be obliged for any item of local interest that may be within their knowledge.

In the Court of Impeachment on Saturday the proceedings were decidedly interesting and at times rather exciting. The testimony which the President's counsel undertook to get in was declared to be inadmissible. In one instance the Chief Justice was overruled by a direct vote.

One of the most important bills introduced into Congress at its present session, is Senator TRUMBULL'S United States Jury bill. It has gone through the Senate and awaits action in the House. It provides that jurors may be summoned outside of the State where the Court is held, and that previous expression of opinion on current reports is no disqualification of a juror. This bill was doubtless framed to meet the cases of DAVIS and SCHARZY, and under it the organizer of the rebellion will have a trial before a jury who neither fought in the rebel army nor in any manner assisted in the attempt to overthrow the government. His trial, it is now understood, will take place in Richmond next month, and we hope to see Pennsylvania represented on the jury.

The people of the Empire State are at present terribly excited about the corruption which has come to light, besides much more which has not, in the Legislature. The price for a member's vote on a bill of magnitude appears to range from $500 to $750, at which rates the thrifty members have done a good business. The development quite shocks the public mind, and is expected to materially increase scrutiny for nominations for the Legislature in the coming canvass. A great many honest men would like to go. We in Pennsylvania, where nothing of the sort was ever known, deeply sympathize with our scandalized neighbors. It is a source of self-congratulation, to be spoken of only with proper humility, that our Legislature stands above reproach, and that no member has been caught selling his vote!

AN ASSOCIATION has been organized in NEW YORK, to promote the interests of the Democratic party in that State. It proposes to bring to the light of day the corruption of the Radical Republican Legislature of that State, and to secure the election of such men to the Legislature as will repeal unconstitutional enactments, Radical in their character, and which have been passed by the Republican majority in the Legislature, with a view to the perpetuation of their power. Hon. HORATIO SEYMOUR is President of the new association, which has chosen as office in the State to which it is confined. Its members are pledged to the business for a number of years, and will be just the men to work it through.

We hope the gentlemen will fail in any attempt to "buy up the right" to monopolize the business of selling books and papers in the cars. It is a monopoly now, and not a small part of the complaints relative to immoral publications proceed from this fact. There is no certainty that an exchange of one monopoly for another will prove a remedy. And, besides, where is the consistency that the gentlemen who put themselves forward as reformers will be proof against the temptation to make a great deal more money at selling objectionable than they can at selling only unobjectionable literature. Even with all doubts removed on this point, why should the monopoly of the business be given to any one? Other considerations attach to the subject than those of reform in the kind of literature to be sold. The monopoly system operates in a great measure to exclude the daily papers from the principal trains. The reason is, the monopolists find it for their interest to impress rather than promote the sale of daily papers, because they make few on them than on the flash literature of the day or a box of candy. A man who buys a paper for five cents, on which there is a profit of two cents, is tormented for an hour or two, and there will be no chance to sell him a newsletter or other publication affording a profit of twenty-five cents. The consequence is, the daily papers—their own direct agents being excluded—have nobody at work for them, and frequently are discriminated against. Were publishers permitted to sell and canvass on the rail, it is our judgment, as the result of considerable investigation, that the sales of the leading papers would double in a short time. Has the monopoly system, which substitutes pop corn, flash publications and cream candy for what the public really wish to buy, is greatly to the detriment of the daily press and an imposition on the traveling public. The daily press should combine to break up the monopoly system, or have it so regulated that it will not prove an injury to the publishers of daily papers.

WILL IMPEACHMENT FAIL?

The President's friends profess to be strengthened in their confidence that impeachment will fail. The testimony of ad nauseam. THOMAS and other witnesses appears to have encouraged them materially, and Judge CURTIS is credited with saying that in any other court he would be willing to rest the case where the first day's defense left it. Probably the President's counsel, if they really entertain this opinion of his case, take an altogether unbridled view of it and things in general. When the rebellion broke out a good many persons argued that the government had no right to coerce a State, and expressed themselves willing to submit the question to the highest court. But a better—if not a higher—law prevailed, and while they agreed in support of their particular ideas, the people, whose will is the ultimate law of the land, proceeded to coerce all the rebellious States by fighting the rebellion down. And whatever, except those who are in finding on the side of the rebellion, will question that the decision was not a righteous one? It will be safe to say that no court will undertake to annul it. And now the attempt to gauge the powers and duties of the Government by legal technicalities, to maintain that the spirit and scope of the rebellion were all in the spirit of the Constitution, was from the same stand point from whence proceeded the argument that the President has done nothing worthy of impeachment. Perhaps his whose could not be better described than by declaring that he has attempted and partially succeeded in the attempt to set aside the verdict of the war. This describes the spirit of his conduct. We presume that his learned counsel would maintain that there is nothing in law or precedent against which he has thereby offended; but we conclude that a broader view—a view from the stand point that the Republic had a right to protect its own life and fight down its armed foes, will discover that he has deeply offended, and that, whereas, without specific statute and in disregard of the conflict of opinion about the right of coercion, the Government did fight the rebellion down, on the same broad view of the crime of the President, actually committed and intended, the impeachment of ANDREW JOHNSON is not only right but becomes a necessity.

But we know that the Senate, sitting as the High Court of Impeachment, took the broadest view of the President's case that his counsel do, we might be troubled with some doubts about the result of the trial. But we cannot believe that they do. They cannot, as the President's counsel do, ignore the grand fact that he is an obstruction to the will of the people, that he has set Congress at defiance, and outraged on the nation consequences transcended only by those of the rebellion itself. Whatever there is of opposition in the present general condition of the nation, and of doubt as to the future—not to refer specially to the positive wretchedness and gloom pervading the entire South—is the direct result of the President's criminal and persistent resistance to Congress representing the people, and his coalition with those who, failing to overthrow the government by force, made him their instrument to prevent the restoration of the revolted States on the principles of freedom and humanity. This may not be in the articles of impeachment in just so many words, but it is the essence of the President's crime; and though his counsel may shut this view of the case out of their own minds, ignore it altogether and seek to have the Court ignore it; the Court can no more shut it out than it can shut out the sunlight or ignore its own existence.

We have no faith, therefore, that there is any real ground for the pretended confidence of the President's counsel, that impeachment will fail. We do not believe that their restricted view of his offense is going to be the view on which the final verdict will be made up. If it is, then it is at least an open question whether the war putting down the rebellion was not unauthorized, the national debt a fraud and JEFFERSON DAVIS a deeply injured individual.

THE WAY THEY LEGISLATE AT HARRISBURG.

MR. FORD, Republican, of Allegheny, said he brought the matter of the State Guard weekly to the counsel for making such an assertion. He had, indeed, seen, made up his mind from the statements made in the special correspondence of the Philadelphia COMMERCIAL.

The above is taken from Friday's proceedings of the Legislature, published in the State Guard, relative to the assertion that the Legislature passed heaps of bills by their title. Mr. FORD has taken an unwarrantable liberty in using the name of the COMMERCIAL in the above connection. The editors of the State Guard are responsible for their assertions, and as they are on the ground are supposed to speak by authority. Notwithstanding Mr. FORD'S voluntary disclaimer, the editors of the Guard reiterate their assertion, and refer to the fact that on Thursday last the Senate passed fifty bills in forty minutes. It seems to us that the least members say about this matter the better for themselves. It is even questionable whether even the titles of all the bills rushed through were read.

An editorial in the State Guard, of Saturday, is so conclusive on this point that we give it entire, as follows:

> [We make no comment on our report of legislative proceedings. We have given the substance of the remarks of the Democratic members who objected to the passage of some of the bills referred to, and the reasons they gave for their opposition. We publish the statement made to us by a member of the Senate, which we have no reason to doubt, and which is confirmed by the fact that the Senate journal shows that fifty bills were passed in forty minutes. We also publish the statement made to us by a member of the House, which is confirmed by the fact that the House journal shows that seventy-five bills were passed in one hour and forty minutes. We have no comment to make upon these facts. They speak for themselves. We have no disposition to misrepresent anything that occurs in the Legislature. The proprietors of the State Guard are not members of the Legislature, and have no personal interest in the matter. We simply publish the statements made to us by members of the Senate and House, which are confirmed by the journals of those bodies. We have no doubt that the statements made to us by members of the Senate and House are correct, and that the journals of those bodies will show that fifty bills were passed in forty minutes, and seventy-five bills in one hour and forty minutes. We have no comment to make upon these facts. They speak for themselves. We have no disposition to misrepresent anything that occurs in the Legislature. The proprietors of the State Guard are not members of the Legislature, and have no personal interest in the matter. We simply publish the statements made to us by members of the Senate and House, which are confirmed by the journals of those bodies. We have no doubt that the statements made to us by members of the Senate and House are correct, and that the journals of those bodies will show that fifty bills were passed in forty minutes, and seventy-five bills in one hour and forty minutes.]

The above announcement is not correct, so far as it relates to the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago road. That company has for two years declined to make any exceptions to the general rule in favor of political conventions or other public meetings.

Senator CAMERON seconds the motion as follows:

> [The Committee of Arrangements appointed by the Republican Union Convention of the State of Pennsylvania, to meet in the city of Harrisburg on the 15th day of April, 1868, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Canal Commissioner and Auditor General, and to transact such other business as may properly come before said Convention, respectfully request that no passes be issued on any of the railroads in this State, which grant free or reduced rates of fare to delegates to said Convention.]

Let Illinois send Mr. MCCLELLAN to the Senate, and the country will almost forget that she sent YATES.

THE presence of SIMON CAMERON at the State Capitol last week set the politicians all agog, and now we have another mystery in the premises at Harrisburg of Edgar Cowan and Cameron Wendell, who are said to be arranging some political matters. Is it certain that they, too, are not deep in the grain business, or are they also large holders in the new Express enterprise? It is important that the question should be settled.

THE Cincinnati Commercial copies the Chicago Tribune's article, setting forth that Colfax is the choice of the west and northwest for Vice President, and adds the following:

> [Though the other Republican aspirants indulge in no such open movements, they are not idle. Some weeks or months since the friends of Governor Morton, of Indiana, commenced laying the basis for his nomination for Vice President, and the movement has since assumed considerable strength. Governor Morton is a man of ability, and would be a strong candidate. Governor Fenton, of New York, has also been mentioned, and his friends are not idle. Governor Oglesby, of Illinois, has also been mentioned, and his friends are not idle. Governor Oglesby, of Illinois, has also been mentioned, and his friends are not idle.]

THE New York Tax bill for the year contains items suggesting to more than twenty millions of dollars. This is only part of the penalty which the bondholder pays to pay for the luxury of Democratic rule. Twenty millions a year is about in proportion to fifty thousand Democratic majority, and, therefore, in accordance with the normal illness of things.

THE New York Tribune had a learned editorial with the mild title, "Horace Seymour as a Liar." The next day the World had another with the equally gentle title: "Horace Greeley as a Liar." It is proper to say that there are Metropolitan journals whose manners are not quite as low as this.

GIVING IT UP EARLY.

Some of the Democratic papers appear disposed to give up the Presidential contest early. The fact that no man can be found outside of the ranks of the leaders who either supported the rebellion or did nothing against it, is having a demoralizing influence. No inconsiderable part of the Democratic party, either wish for a candidate who was on the side of the country or are convinced that any other will fail even worse than MCCLELLAN did; and as it becomes certain that such a candidate is highly improbable or past hoping for, the journals representing this class of Democrats begin to speak out. For instance, the New York Journal of Commerce, a paper which, whenever it does speak of such matters, means a great deal, speaks as follows:

> [What course the Democrats will take in such a contingency [the nomination of candidates who are not open and avowed opponents of reconstruction] we cannot undertake to predict. If they select some of the conservative statesmen, or unobjectionable generals, who have been named in connection with the Presidency, they will have a fair chance of success. If they select some of the extreme men, who have been conspicuous in opposing reconstruction, they will have a hopeless contest. We think the latter course would be suicidal. We think the former would be successful. We think the Democratic National Convention will be controlled by a sound sense of the necessities of the case, and will nominate such candidates as will command the confidence of the country. We think the Democratic party will not commit political suicide. We think it will not repeat the folly of 1864. We think it will not nominate a candidate who will be regarded as the representative of the disgusting Copperhead element, and often a personal enemy of the soldiers who have fought the battles of the country. We think it will not nominate a candidate who will be regarded as the representative of hostility and opposition to the Administration which has suppressed the rebellion. We think it will not nominate a candidate who will be regarded as the representative of the disgusting Copperhead element, and often a personal enemy of the soldiers who have fought the battles of the country. We think it will not nominate a candidate who will be regarded as the representative of hostility and opposition to the Administration which has suppressed the rebellion.]

THE proceedings before some of the courts of New York city growing out of the Vanderbilt-Drew war are a public scandal. It is more than intimated that some of the Judges are as much in the interest of one or the other of the parties, as a large number of the members of the Legislature are known to be for the pay, and the Sun employs the epithet "infamous" to express its detestation for the acts of certain Judges—or a certain Judge—before whom proceedings were had last week. The Sun goes on to say:

> [Justice has long been entertained for her brigandish New York prostitutes by a class of moral fanatics. We believe the first of the kind of moral fanatics. We believe the first of the kind of moral fanatics. We believe the first of the kind

THOMAS S. KIRKPATRICK AND W. M. KIRKPATRICK.

Domestic Life in Germany.

Dr. Hurst is writing to the Methodist of New York city a series of letters from Germany. The last one is dated Bremen, and gives the following pleasant picture of domestic life in that country:

An average German family, of moderate means, is without exception in humble enough circumstances to compel every member of it to be industrious. It may consist of a dozen members, and not there is no disposition on the part of its head to occupy the whole of a large house. Just enough room to enjoy the necessary comforts, and there are generally much smaller than here are accustomed to, are all that are desired.

Persons can hardly be taken as a fair specimen of the style of living commonly in Germany, for being a resort, it is largely affected by the influence of foreigners. To no stranger can one turn here for a couple of days, and form the acquaintance of citizens, without becoming impressed by the contentment, frugality and more usually shining in the German domestic circle. The family of many a man during a large business, and moving in a sphere of the highest respectability, often occupy but one floor, and every room is furnished with great simplicity. His business may increase every year, and yet he does not seem to be troubled with the various thoughts of getting out of his apartments into larger ones, or of buying a house for its entire occupation. The disposition, on the increase of wealth, to go into a more aristocratic circle by buying a large house on a fashionable street, beautifying it with costly furniture, giving great entertainments, and appearing every afternoon with a large equipage, is not a part of the German character. If he indulges in all these things, on anything less than an immense fortune, the presumption is—that either he or his wife has been in America.

The German breakfast is very simple—indeed it is never called breakfast, but only coffee. Not an inch will the real German move from his house, or scarcely in it, until he has had his coffee, which is accompanied by a biscuit or two without butter. The German scholar will not open a book, or take up his pen, until he has had this light repast. At ten o'clock a lunch of bread and cheese, or something of a similar character, is taken by many, though not universally. The dinner, invariably introduced by soup, consists of substantial and nutritious dishes, and closes with bread and cheese. In the middle of the afternoon, coffee is taken again, and a light tea, at about half past six, closes the meals of the day. In summer afternoons, many families take their coffee in little arbors in the front garden. The garden may be very small, but by dint of management, enough of its narrow dimensions are subdivided into spaces for a little table, surrounded by half a dozen seats, over which rises a vine-covered lattice. Where there is no spare ground, but the verandah reaches the street, green one end of the verandah itself is often divided into a little room, which is half screened from the street by some ingenious device, and supplied with chairs, table, and pictures. These pleasant little nooks are usually occupied the whole of the afternoon by the ladies, in pleasant summer weather, who there converse sew, sip their coffee, and entertain their friends, and, in the evening, are joined by the gentlemen, on their return from their places of business.

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PURGATIVE PELLETS
WHAT IS IT?
DON'T KNOW?
Thousands of persons have Piles—suffer for years with the disease—yet few know what it is, or how it is cured. Every case of Piles, whether manifested in the form of external tumors, frequent bleedings, or in violent itching and irritation, depends essentially upon congestion of the lower bowels and rectum. This produces the engorgement, dilation of the veins, formation of tumors, hemorrhages, and suffering; and the disease can only be cured by producing a healthy action in the parts affected. These tumors, when the patient lives in the Eastern States, are called Piles; otherwise, fistula, ulceration, fissure, stricture, and even impotency, are so inclined.
DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PURGATIVE PELLETS
Are among the most popular, and, at the same time, valuable specifics ever offered to the public. They are sugar coated, purely vegetable, and even a child can take them. As a gentle laxative, a single pellet is a dose; as a cathartic, two to four pellets; as a powerful drastic purge, from five to seven pellets. They are the cheapest pill in the market, because they are the most effective. They are the only pills that are warranted to give satisfaction in all cases, or money will be refunded. They are sold by druggists everywhere.
As a cure it is both mild and agreeable to the taste, and operates in healthful accord with the system.
